JAYCEES INVITE PUBLIC TO HELP PICK 'MAN OF YEAR'

The Norwalk Junior Chamber of Commerce has invited members of the general public to participate in its annual search for this city's outstanding Young Man of the Year.

The Jaycees have already sent nomination forms to the churches, businesses, and civic associations which comprise its mailing list, and now the election has been opened to nominations from the floor and anyone may obtain a form simply by writing for one to the Norwalk Jaycees, Box 162, Norwalk, Conn.

Nominees must be under 35 years of age and have performed outstanding service to the community during 1965.

The winner of the competition will be presented with the DSA, the Distinguished Service Award, at a dinner-dance on Feb. 19 at the Norwalk Jewish Center. Speaker will be John Burns, chairman of the New York State Democratic Party. Following the dinner and the presentation of the award, Hugh Golden will provide dance music for the remainder of the evening. Tickets are available from all Jaycees.

At Thursday evening's monthly meeting at the Jolly Fisherman, DSA Chairman Carl Weinstein announced that five prominent community leaders are being selected as judges for the event. They will meet one week prior to the dinner and choose a winner from the batch of nominations which have been received. Nominations will be accepted for all sources up to that date, Feb. 12.

Also at Thursday evening's meeting the Jaycees heard from William Larned, president of the Defense Marketing Service Corp. Mr. Larned explained how his firm, through diligent sifting of government and trade publications, attempts to keep the members of the American aerospace industry abreast of latest developments in government purchases of aircraft, missiles, and associated equipment. He made many analogies between DMS and the CIA; though he was quick to explain that no classified material is involved. Like the CIA or any other government intelligence operation, DMS obtains 90 percent of its information from public sources.

The service has proven invaluable to businesses in the aerospace field in helping them to keep track of what their competitors are doing and in alerting them as to what they may expect in the way of future requirements from the Defense Department.
